10. PRINCIPLES FOR PROTECTING THE FILE

The data is saved on Itula Oy's electronic customer relationship management (CRM) system. Only employees who are entitled to process customer data on behalf of their work are authorised to use the systems containing customer data. Every user has their own user ID and password for the system. Users are authenticated via the company's server, which also manages access management. External SSL VPN users are authenticated via the watchguard T35 firewall, which also acts as the company's firewall.

The company has a two-part WPA2-encrypted wireless network: a password is required for corporate access and there is a separate network for customers with a separate password. It is not possible to access the company's network from the customer network.

The servers containing databases are located in a locked area, and they are protected by firewalls from outside parties. Only designated personnel are entitled to log in to the databases.

Backups are scheduled daily. The copies go to local drives on the servers, and they are also packed and stored in the cloud. The functionality of backups is also verified manually twice a month. Agreements have been made with service providers to ensure that their data protection procedures comply with regulations.

The workstations of personnel who process sensitive personal information are encrypted with disk encryption.

The company's computers are updated in accordance with the normal update cycle, while updates are run on servers manually once a month. Workstation updates are also managed by antivirus/computer management software.
